Sewer failure leaves citizens irate in M-ville

MERRILLVILLE -- Residents of two subdivision here have threatend to cease payment of their sewer bills to Community Utilities unless measures are taken to correct the malfunctions which left them with flooded basements and thousands of dollars in damage from backed-up sewage, resulting from the heavy rains on June 13.

Similar complaints were aired about four years ago. At that time the town ordered Community Utilities to install more efficient, and where needed, new equipment to alleviate similar problems. A signal light was to be installed at the pumping station which would indicate if the equipment was operating properly, and also there was to be an emergency generator installed to function in the event of a power outage.

Apparently, judging from the comments of the area residents, the equipment failed and no one from Community Utilities was available to handle the situation. Four or five residents said they tried in vain to contact officials.

Bon Aire resident Tom Franz said the equipment didn't work and that the pump "kept kicking out". He said someone had cut the lock to get to it and found a "pipe wrench on the shaft holding the pump together." He contended that the equipment was at least 15 years old and that there had been no maintenance on it.

Another citizen, Wright Manor resident Bob Goss, said he had experienced the same problems. "The system is antiquated -- our basements are nothing more than reservoirs until he gets the pumps going." He said if rainwater was eliminated from the sanitary sewers they might be adequate to handle the sewage. It was his suggestion that a study be run to determine the number of illegal hookups of downspouts and drainage tiles hooked into the system and to eliminate them. He pointed out, also, that utility bills had more than doubled in the past three months, saying, "We are paying $14 a month, but would pay $40 per month if he (Verne Washburn of Community Utilities) would eliminate the problems."

Mark Keyes, another resident, reiterated the problems citing poor maintenance and a 123 percent increase in rates as objections. He said he thought the town should investigate why 123 percent increase was granted and where the money is going.

Another victim of water backups was Ralph Artim of Artim Transportation located in Westlake Plaza. He said the retention ponds were not functional -- that too much territory empties into the south pond. "At one time there was four-and-one-half feet of water in our garage," he said, "and then it flowed into the basement of the building." He said they secured enough pumps to stem the flow at about four inches. "Had we not done so our computer system would have been hit," he said.

Apparently the culvert under Interstate 65 drained the water from the Prudential Insurance Company pond into the Westlake Plaza. The flow was intended to follow the path of the drainage ditch along the west side of I-65, but the ditch needs to be cleaned, according to Artim.

Trustee Milan Dakich said he was not sure where the town entered into the problem, since the utility companies are not municipally owned. But he said the drainage committee would look into the matter and help wherever possible.

Ward Four Trustee John Petalas said he had seen notice of a public hearing for a rate increase for Lincoln Utilities, which serves Lincoln Gardens, Young American and other areas in his ward. Petalas said he had sent a letter to the Public Service Commission of Indiana speaking for denial of the rate increase.

Ward Three Trustee John Rooda said the town has spent about $1 million in efforts to improve the storm water system in town, but it remained a major problem. He, like some of the complainants, said the problem was illegal tie-ins and infiltration in the sanitary sewers, "a problem we have ignored too long."

EDC backing okayed for nursing home in M-ville

MERRILLVILLE -- The Town Board here last week unanimously approved bonding in the amount of $5,544,000 for Health Quest Realty II which will build a 201-bed nursing home in Broadfield Park, immediately south of Broadway Methodist Hospital.

The corporation had sought approval at the last previous town meeting, but at that time, objections were made on the basis of the use of the town's emergency medical services at a loss to the town. Last week it appeared Health Quest executives had reached an agreement with town officials to pay compensation for any in excess of three calls per month for the emergency service.

The two factions met in a workshop session of the Town Board and as a result, Health Quest officials agreed to compensate the town for more than three EMS calls in any one month. Further, the compensation would amount to the difference between the amount charged to local residents for EMS service and that which is allowed by Medicare payments.

The proposal is to be reduced to writing prior to the reading of the ordinance for second and final approval at the next meeting.

Also, Dr. Gilbert V. Carter, orthodontist who some time ago got EDC financing in the amount of $660,000, was accorded unanimous approval for an additional $275,000 bonding, bringing the total for his facility in Chapel Manor to $935,000. He stated that construction costs exceeded the original estimate due to economic conditions. The office building is located at 7891 Broadway.

Fight crime now--Fithian

Congressman Floyd Fithian today set forth an eight-bill, anti-crime legislative package, claiming that "Congress has waited too long to seriously address the problem of crime in our country."

"Violent crime is a deep area of concern to Americans, second only to the state of the economy," Fithian said. "I know that the people in our district want a country where they can once again walk the streets safely at night."

According to Fithian, Americans fell victim to violent crime at a rate of one every 27 seconds in 1978. Robbery, assault, and burglary increased by more than 13 percent in 1980.

"We cannot wait to see how many law abiding citizens fall prey in 1981," Fithian said. "The bills that I have cosponsored will go a long way toward helping turn our country back toward safety and order."

One of Fithian's cosponsored bills would establish the fight against violent crime as a national priority of the House of Representatives. Another, the "Use a Gun, Go to Jail Bill," would require a mandatory, five-year minimum jail sentence for anyone who commits a felony with a firearm.

Another of the bills would deal with arson. "Arson is the fastest growing and most expensive crime in our country," Fithian said. "One quarter of our home insurance premiums are spent to cover arson costs." The act would require the FBI to classify arson as a Part 1 major crime and would coordinate federal efforts to prevent arson.

Other bills would fight drug trafficking. The "Drug Bail Reform Act" would net minimum bail for an arrested drug pusher at the direct value of the drugs seized. A resolution that Fithian cosponsored would continue the seven state Leviticus Project, which fights interstate drug trafficking. Indiana is one of the states in the project.

Another bill in the package is the Organized Crime Act of 1981. "This bill would crack down on contract murders and on attempts to threaten witnesses at a criminal trial," Fithian explained. "The bill throws the weight of the federal government behind state and local efforts to stop organized crime."

Fithian has cosponsored a bill to discourage drunk driving. It would establish stiff penalties for first time and repeat offenders who are arrested for driving while intoxicated. According to Fithian, 600 drivers were killed in Indiana in both 1979 and 1980 due to alcohol related accidents.

The last bill in the package is the Law Enforcement Officer's Bill of Rights. It is designed to protect policemen from abuses that they might suffer during interdepartmental investigations.

Property annex approved

CROWN POINT -- Harry Lewis of 11900 Grant Street requested and received approval from the City Council's annexation committee on June 22 for a plan calling for the city to annex his property. The request will be forwarded to the City Council for final approval.

Lewis' property is situated in Woodland View Estates subdivision, and is already adjoined by the city on two sides. The entire subdivision was at one time under consideration for annexation by the city of Crown Point, yet the property owners failed to press for annexation, and the city dropped its plans.

Funding asked for drug unit

Lake County Prosecutor Jack Crawford is requesting $50,000.00 from Federal Revenue Sharing Funds to fund the Lake County Prosecutor's Drug Task Force for the remainder of 1981.

The Drug Task Force was organized in Lake County in May of 1980 following a large scale drug raid primarily in Porter County. The unit operated until March of 1981. On March 25, 1981, the Drug Task force, composed of over 200 law enforcement officers from 11 different police agencies effected the arrest of over 120 drug dealers primarily in Lake County.

The Task Force is composed of undercover police officers from the Indiana State Police, the Hammond Police Department, and other contributing agencies.

The funding for this Task Force during its initial operation was provided primarily by the Indiana State Police with assistance from the Cities of Hammond and Whiting.

The advantageous results of this program according to Prosecutor Crawford, are clear and convincing. With an expenditure of under $25,000.00 the unit was able to accomplish the arrest of over 120 drug dealers. This mass arrest has had a "chilling effect" on drug traffic in Lake County.

Bushemi assigned to committees

INDIANAPOLIS-State Senator John Bushemi (D-Calumet Township) will be serving as a member of the Interim Study Committees on Medical Malpractice and the Review of Obsolete Provisions Contained in the Indiana Constitution. This is in addition to Senator Bushemi's work on the Inter State High Speed Rail Compact and his previous appointment to the Sunset Committee.

The Indiana General Assembly established the Medical Malpractice study committee to review the impact of legislative action on medical malpractice, the status of the patient's compensation fund, the nature of claims filed under the current malpractice law, and whether or not revisions are necessary in the medical malpractice law as it stands at this time.

The work of the committee to Review Obsolete Provisions Contained in the Indiana Constitution will focus on provisions in the constitution that may be offensive to particular groups in our society. The group is also charged with drafting amendments to the state constitution to strike obsolete provisions from the document. Senator Bushemi stated, "As a practicing attorney I believe that my experience and training in the law will be beneficial to my service on the study committee reviewing the state constitution. I am looking forward to working in these areas of state government through the study committees and I hope that we will bring a good work product to the General Assembly for consideration next session," he concluded.

Post Office July 4 Schedule

The Gary post office will operate on a holiday schedule during its Independence Day observance Saturday, July 4.

Postmaster Arthur T. Hambric said there will be no regular residential or business mail deliveries, and usual post office lobby services will not be available.

Delivery of certain expedited mail services will continue during the holiday weekend. Included are Special Delivery and Express Mail. Mailers should call the post office at 981-3395 for information about holiday schedules and rates.

Mail pick-up from collection boxes also will be on holiday schedule, as posted on individual boxes, or determined by calling the post office.

Normal mail service will resume Monday, July 6.

State Police C.A.R.E.

The Indiana State Police once again will participate in national Operation C.A.R.E. (Combined Accident Reduction Effort) this 4th of July weekend beginning at 6 p.m. July 2, and ending at midnight July 5, announced Indiana State Police Superintendent John T. Shettle.

This is the fifth year the Indiana State Police has participated in the nation-wide effort to reduce accidents and fatalities by providing greater visibility and enforcement of accident causing violations.

There will be approximately 350 Indiana State Police officers providing additional patrols during the holiday weekend on the following C.A.R.E. highways: Interstate 64, 65, 69, 70, 80, 90, 465, and parts of US 31 and SR 37.

In 1980 there were 12 fatal accidents with 12 deaths in Indiana over the 4th of July weekend. Indiana Office of Traffic Safety predicts 16 persons will lose their lives this 4th of July weekend. Superintendent Shettle urges all motorists to drive with "care" and let the life saved be theirs.

CYO seeks youth volunteers

The Northwest Indiana Catholic Youth Organization is seeking young people with spare time this summer to become active in its Community Service Volunteer Program.

Started in 1976, this CYO program places youths 14 and years and older as volunteers in a number of area health and social service agencies, such as Ross Care Center in Merrillville and Munster Med-Inn.

According to CYO Youth Services Coordinator Pattye Probasco, volunteering provides the responsible individual with an opportunity to assist others while at the same time helping themselves in career decisions.

Probasco explained that youths can gain experience through volunteer time in such areas as geriatrics, pediatrics, special education, recreation, music, art, social work, and library science.

She noted that past CYO volunteers have been so successful that they were eventually hired on a part-time basis by the agency.

"DIAMOND SALES?"
Some diamond sales can be misleading! Diamond prices have risen consistently, since the depression of the 1930's. Diamonds do not perish like lettuce, nor go out of style like clothes. Think twice before being misled by some "DIAMOND SALES". Usually if the diamond commands an inferior price, it is usually because it is an inferior gem. Select your jeweler carefully.

OPINION

INDEPENDENCE DAY, 1981--a time for reaffirmation

Independence Day -- what is it all about? Perhaps it is the day on which we reflect on how the United States of America got to where it is and offer homage to those fearless revolutionaries who had the courage to defy England -- the men who put life and property on the line for the general welfare.

Let us start at the beginning with the men who sacrificed greatly for the freedom we take for granted: Thomas Jefferson, whose beloved Monticello was sold for debt, who tried in vain for a lottery to help him pay off his creditors; Alexander Hamilton, who died bankrupt. And those men who are seldom mentioned: John Hart, a New Jersey signer of the Declaration, said to be illiterate, who, on returning to his home, found his wife dead, his animals slaughtered, his barns burned, and who died a broken man.

And George Washington, whose unshakeable qualities of fortitude and tenacity put the final stamp on the high words and vaulting dreams of others. Jefferson said it well of Washington, "North and South will hang together if they have you to hang to."

What was the vision that motivated these great patriots? What dreams inspired them, and from what source did they draw the strength of character and courage to carry through those thoughts and actions?

Jefferson knew his Bible well. He read everything from Blackstone to the classics and he read both Greek and Latin. Madison studied those and more at Princeton.

But is is likely that they drew their knowledge of government from the leaders of Athens. Perhaps it was Pericles who inspired them with his words, his comparison of the freedom of a democracy, with its consequent and inevitable lack of discipline, to the regimentation of a totalitarian state, its secrecy and distrust of outsiders.

Quoting Pericles, "Everyone is equal before the law; when it is a question of putting one person before another in positions of public responsibility, what counts is not membership of a particular class, but the actual ability which the man possesses." And, "We will give our obedience to those we put in positions of authority. . .obey the laws themselves, especially those for the protection of the oppressed, and those unwritten laws which it is an acknowledged shame to break."

These are simplified versions of the complex system of balances by which democracy works -- equality before the law, recognition of individual excellence, liberty balanced by order, through obedience to laws both written and unwritten.

But our system, which allows for dissent, relies heavily on self-discipline and consensus to uphold our social structure. People must love and understand democracy as their form of government.

Pericles also wrote, "Our love of the beautiful does not lead us to extravagance; our love of the things of the mind does not make us soft." And the men who fought at Valley Forge and Bunker Hill and in the frozen marshes of New Jersey and Delaware were not soft. Indeed, they were pillars of strength.

Ours is a government which has survived many and severe trials and stood firm so that we have inherited a wonderful land and an equitable system of government.

Jefferson, in 1801, denied that "man cannot be trusted with the government of himself."

On the contrary, he said "I believe this the strongest government on earth."

And strong we are. We have endured with all the problems and complexities entailed in freedom. But it is time we, as citizens, call up the hope and belief and capacity for self-sacrifice which carried forward those revolutionary visionaries. For the good of self and country, it is time to recapture the vision.

Connie's Comments...

...are coming from a creaky Charlie Corona who has been cranking out this column since 1974! He is tired, he is old, and he makes very strange sounds that leads us to believe he is in the throes of a death rattle. But this column could be written only on "good old Charlie", because he remembers more about the Town of Merrillville than almost anyone else at the HERALD!

While we were looking through our pile of old clippings for items to use in this anniversary edition, we came across some of our first columns. The following items are excerpted from oldies...

DATELINE: Sept. 18, 1974--Congratulations to the 28 persons who were appointed by the Town Board to serve on the Citizens Advisory Committee for the town's master plan which is being prepared. (The plan was finally adopted in 1978!)

DATELINE: Sept. 24, 1974 -- Did you ever notice some of the local look-a-likes? Passed a white T-Bird on Taft Street the other day and thought it was driven by Robert Redford with Jane Fonda in the passenger seat. It was Merrillville Town Attorney FRED CUPPY with his wife, JUDY. (Now they live in Shorewood, but Fred continues to serve the town well as its counsel!)

DATELINE: Nov. 13, 1974 -- WHAT'S THIS? Fifteen babies born in the Methodist Church last November 4 and 5! Either a leftover "evil spirit" from Halloween got loose in the Post-Tribune's composing room or a new trend is starting in Gary...we were startled to read the VITAL STATISTICS column on November 6 and find 15 births listed as "Methodist Church!"

DATELINE: Dec. 24, 1974 -- LET'S HOPE -- those new curved guardrails installed at the Turkey Creek bridge will adequately steer drivers onto the bridge instead of into the creek. MARK DRAKE, the "Mark Spitz of the Merrillville PD" is getting tired of replacing uniforms ruined by the polluted water of Turkey Creek...besides, that water is icy!

DATELINE: Jan. 8, 1975 -- SOME COMMENTS FROM THE MERRILLVILLE TOWN HALL: ANNE COLLINS says "Sometimes I wonder what I'm doing here, but when I really think about it, I guess I really DO care what happens to our town and I'm glad to do what I can to help." FROM MERLE COOK: "Jerry Wilkerson is a fine young man and I know he'll do very well in Washington, but I'll miss him here; he is so conscientious." (Jerry has done EXTREMELY well in Washington, D.C. He heads a major lobbyist group and we heard he was recently dating none-other-than the gorgeous TV news lady JESSICA SAVITCH!)

DATELINE: March 5, 1975 -- NO LEAK IS A GOOD LEAK...or no news is good news or the good is that there is no leak!...at least not in the Merrillville Town Hall meeting room anymore! RALPH LONG announced that it is fixed! No more "watered down" versions of the doings at city hall! (Sorry, folks, the roof STILL leaks after having been completely done over during the last remodeling, but BILL KURTIS is going to get it stopped--once and for all, he says!)

DATELINE: April 30, 1975 -- GOODBYE AND GOOD LUCK...to our fellow correspondent, CHERYL GREENBERG of the TIMES, who leaves to become a special nurse in the leukemia unit at Billings Hospital in Chicago next week. The entire Merrillville BZA agreed that her pretty face and presence will be missed. (Cheryl was killed in an automobile accident on I-65 not long after. We still miss her.)

DATELINE: June 4, 1975 -- JUDGE JAMES RICHARDS of the Superior Court in Hammond chuckled at the similarity of names when our RICHARD JAMES was sworn in as a witness in the Friday's Lounge hearing. (If I write "Friday's Friday's Lounge hearing", am I being redundant?) When Steve Brenman entered the town zoning ordinance into evidence and FRED CUPPY said, "I have no objection...I've seen it before," Judge Richards gave a big grin and said, "You probably wrote it!" (Rich James is now a reporter for the POST-TRIBUNE)

DATELINE: July 2, 1975 -- Our crack news team, JAMES, ALLEN & SCHILLER, checked out the opening of Friday's Lounge. The first round of drinks cost $2.30 (Mark could only have a 7-Up) and the next round jumped to $2.50, so we never did figure out the prices. And the soccer game wound up in a 3-3 tie, the dance floor wasn't in operation, and it was Friday, so we all left! (Since that time, the 6016 building once again houses THE HERALD, and Mark Allen is now a member of the Lake County Coroner's Investigative Division)

DATELINE: Dec. 13, 1975--Attention, Merrillvillians...the newly acquired property next to the Town Hall (which is to be used to house the Park Board) has been unofficially dubbed "The Town House." (The Park Board, as such, was appointed by the first town board as one of its final acts, and immediately put out of business by the second board, but the Town House continues to house the Park Department).

Congratulations...to amiable TOM FERRALL of Valparaiso on his appointment as manager of community affairs for the Gary operation of U.S. Steel...Tom deserves the very best for his efforts for the Lake Area United Way and his work with the Northwest Indiana Symphony in the past years! (Tom only recently got a well-deserved promotion and is working in the corporate offices in Pittsburgh--our loss is their gain!)

DATELINE: January 1, 1976--Town Hall in Merrillville had more than its usual share of elegantly dressed ladies on New Year's Eve this year...the occasion a party? NO! It was PAUL EICH's final revenge. Arriving in their evening clothes for Anne Collins' last ditch attempt to get through ordinances for Park Department funding were charming and smiling strawberry blond MARGARET DETERT in a smokey mink coat; the gamin AURORA RANDHAN, also in mink; young MRS. JOHN CARR, all bubbly and sparkly in a fabric coat collared in fox.

DATELINE: March 2, 1977 -- Yes! It is true...the HERALD is moving into the building at 6016 Broadway...but we don't know exactly which day. Then you can all come in and see us, cause there's plenty of parking! (There is still parking, and we still welcome your visits!)

DATELINE: May 4, 1977 -- GOOD NEWS...ED KIRK (of the company of the same name) informs us all the signals are "go" to have the construction work and lights on US 30 at Broadway, Merrillville Road and Taft finished by September 1. (They were.)

DATELINE: August 17, 1977--HIGH HUMOR?...Superchief LES SHERIDAN [MV] was in high spirits at the town meeting last week...he was able to joke about the newly enacted weed-cutting ordinance (he doesn't joke too often!)...said he'd need hipboots, a snorkel, a rowboat and a Weed-eater if he was to be responsible for weed-cutting at the town-owned (swamp? conservation area?, farm?) piece of land at 57th and Harrison. BOB McCLELLAN (Ward 7 Trustee) insisted that the town either declare the status of the "swamp" or cut the weeds. (Since then Les was removed as chief of police for reasons never made known to the public, and we are sorry to say, Bob McClellan died of a heart attack while in Indianapolis on business for the Street Department. The swamp is still a mass of uncut weeds!)

DATELINE: January 25, 1978 -- WOW! ALL THAT RED HAIR...and all those beautiful, perfectly straight white teeth! And there you have MISS TERRY MURPHY, WLS-TV co-anchorperson who took Andrean High School by storm last Friday. Kids and adults, alike, were charmed by the lithe and lissome redhead from Cincinnati. She said she just couldn't resist Sister Ann-Renee's invitation to speak at Andrean, joking that with Sister's powers of persuasion, she should be in sales at the station! And her final words of advice to the students endeared her to all those kids who probably won't make the National Honor Society. She said, "To those who don't make it keep the faith...neither did I!" (Murphy has since gone on to nobody seems to know where!)

DATELINE: February 22, 1978 -- RON EISENHAUER (member of the Plan Commission) may be the only one who can say, "I told you so," if and when Planned Parenthood Association takes the town to court over the zoning dispute at 8601 Connecticut. To our knowledge, Town Attorney Fred Cuppy hasn't publically stated that it was his opinion that planner ROGER BERNAL's interpretation of the zoning was correct. Perhaps he has stated that view, but not in print. And we would have to guess that Ron had more than just a layman's opinion before he committed himself publically at the BZA meeting! (Ron was right!)

IN THE CURRENT NEWS: RON RANDHAN is holding his own after heart surgery last week. He may NOT have visitors, but cards would be welcome at St. Anthony Hospital, Crown Point. Bless his heart! Ron had agreed to do a piece about Merrillville's incorporation and growth in the past ten years, and we were told that the first thing he said when they had taken the tube out of his throat was, "Tell Corinne I won't be able to do that article I promised." How conscientious he is!

AU CONTRAIRE -- BOB DETERT (Lakes of the Four Seasons and formerly a Merrillville Town Board member) said he is ordering a pirate flag for his boat in honor of his wife. MARGARET DETERT, who has had a severe bout with arthritis just had a bit of eye surgery and is wearing a black patch over one eye! Poor baby--she broke an arm in March, just got it out of the cast and darn it all! --fell and broke the other arm. But if you know "Bubbles", it will take more than that to keep her indomitable spirit down!

WHO--had the biggest, most elaborate birthday party we've ever been to? Why ANGELO GRECCO, of course! Last Thursday was his natal day, and as the Italian folks prepared for the evening's festivities at La Festa, Angelo was serenaded in the kitchen...complete with accordian music.

SPEAKING OF ITALIAN -- we bumped into UGO ANGOTTI in the cappucino garden at La Festa. He said his catering is going "just fine" at Marquette Park Pavilion. Incidentally, if you find a bit of an Italian taste to some of the things at the Grecian Festival, just know it is because Ugo is helping out there, too!

FINALLY, when the legal eagles take up arms against each other, the outcome is not always equitable--vis-a-vis, THEODORAS 21, KOPKO 6! That was the racquetball score when those two bounced them off the walls last week!...eoc...cbs

NIPSCO rate hikes and the Bailly Alliance

TO THE EDITOR:

A number of people have asked me why the Lake-Porter Leadership Council has not taken a public stand on the proposed 13.3 percent NIPSCO rate hike. An explanation is in order. The Council takes a position on an issue after substantial research and debate have guided our members to a consensus of at least 75 percent. The NIPSCO rate increase is too complicated to achieve this agreement.

On the one hand, most of our members have received good service from NIPSCO and have few complaints. On the other hand, we do not want to discourage people with legitimate grievances from using the hearings to air them. In fact, we support all suggestions which would help NIPSCO improve its efficiency.

Wages and prices have risen rapidly during the past ten years. We would like utility rates to rise more slowly that the cost of living in general, but is it realistic to expect one industry to provide a product at greater sacrifice than others? We sympathize with the poor and those on fixed incomes who feel extreme pressure from the rising utility rates. We encourage them to make their plight known. But at the same time we are aware that NIPSCO stockholders have seen their investment deteriorate, and we know they are sacrificing income that could be earned in the money markets in order to provide us with electrical service. We all depend on electricity for jobs and comfort and want NIPSCO to remain healthy.

Other areas of conflict could be noted, but we believe the public should now direct its attention and anger at the real culprit in the rate increase controversy, the Bailly Alliance. This small but well organized and financed group of "do-gooders" have for ten years prevented NIPSCO from building the Bailly Nuclear I plant. This use of modern technology could have been expected to go on line soon providing cheap, clean energy to our area and could have freed NIPSCO from purchasing 25 percent of its power from other companies. But the Bailly Alliance has used the courts and the "Big Lie" technique to achieve delay. Although the courts have rejected the Bailly Alliance's claims again and again, the result of the delay has been an increase in the cost of the plant from 180 million dollars to 1.8 billion dollars. And yet they want to delay it further!

The antagonism expressed by the Bailly Alliance against the development of safe, cheap, clean, and reliable energy has had other detrimental effects in our region. If you were a businessman, would you seriously consider an investment in an area where the energy future is in doubt, and where some backward politicians join a fanatical special-interest group to oppose development?

The Lake Porter Leadership Council believes it is time to reindustrialize the Calumet region. Construction of the Bailly Nuclear I plant is the first step. With ample energy supplies assured we want to join with all citizen groups, businessmen, and politicians to recruit industry for our area. Concerted efforts to expand our energy base should be followed closely by improvements in flood control in the LIttle Calumet River and Kankakee River basins. Assured power supplies, access to transport, and drainage are essential to the location and operation of all productive businesses, large and small. Only with this positive effort will we be able to pull our productive area out of its economic stagnation. Let's not permit a group of misguided individuals in the Bailly-Alliance put our jobs in jeopardy!

The Lake-Porter Leadership Council will be available to speak with anyone interested in our program for economic development or fight against drugs at the Merrillville 10th Anniversary Festival on July 4th and 5th. Please stop at our booth and strike up a conversation.

Martin Henrichs, President
Lake-Porter Leadership Council

Fashionably Speaking . . .

by SUZANNE PATTON

HAPPY BIRTHDAY MERRILLVILLE...Think of all the changes in the town in the last 10 years, especially in the business community. True...high rise buildings appeared, more motel rooms were added, and the restaurant boom provided an international menu to satisfy any craving, but consider all the unlimited apparel options brought about with each new mall opening, and the easy access to any fashion whim one might come up with.

FASHIONS-HAIRSTYLES-LIFESTYLES have all undergone drastic changes in the last 10 years. When Merrillville incorporated, in 1971, skirts were mini, hair was long and straight, the Afro hair-do had been spotted in large urban cities around the country, but not a scene stealer in our small, new town. T-shirts with logos, clever art-work, and trendy implications were unheard of.

Local folks wore plaid polyester pants, cardigan sweater vests, and long...long stocking caps. One's jeans were labeled Levi or Wrangler.

REMEMBER HIP-HUGGER JEANS and big-bells worn with wide 3 inch belts. How about turtle-neck sweaters under short-cropped sweaters, and polyester, jersey knit shirts. Did you save a couple Banlon pullover shirts. Then you remember Merrillville in 1972 and 1973. You probably wore a nylon hooded parka to keep warm at football games. Bold plaids and gaudy stripes were the popular prints of the season. Local ladies scurried to their favorite beautician for a shag haircut - with fullness and height on top, cropped close at the face and back and fringed at the neckline.

PANT SUITS rallied in the middle seventies...also known as an all-out rebellion to the mini-skirt. Remember all the flack about women employees wearing pants to work. Teens locally still walked on the hem of their blue-jeans, but the cool-college set came home from campus in their cigarette jeans. Men loved the leisure-suit with comfortable shirt-jacket, and kept bringing it out of the closet season after season. No one guessed it would hang-on so long, only to be completely wiped out by the three-piece vested suit in the mid-seventies.

WE CELEBRATED our nations 200th birthday, gave up men's haircuts, and joined the still-growing physical fitness craze all the same year. Local fashions revealed that "do your own thing" attitude significant of the times.

IN THE LATE SEVENTIES, one spent rainy Sunday afternoons browsing the malls, and talked oneself into purchasing a new dress - with hemlines reaching mid-calf. Fashions for everyone - plus-size, tall, juniors, trendy disco-lovers; absolutely everyone regardless of their age or lifestyle could find just the right out fit, without ever leaving Merrillville.

Designer labels were storming the local market. It was status to wear a famous designer signature on your hip-pocket. Menswear had reached high-fashion appeal. Now, one had one's hair "styled," established an urban-cowboy look, and developed a sophisticated program of jogging or racquet sports.

HERE WE ARE in the fashionable 80's. Fashion experts, knowledgable in the history of fashion, and the cycles of fashion, are shaking their heads in disbelief. For centuries, clothing styles changed about every twenty to thirty years. Look around Merrillville, (not a trend-setting community by any means) and you'll see some of those same fashions worn in 1971 making a return in local stores. Don't look for the mini, except on the very young, expect a lot of plaids, cardigan sweaters, and longer hemlines.

It's fun to look back...however, fashions of the 1980's are getting better and better.

REMEMBER LEISURE SUITS? A lot of them are still popular in Merrillville. Like the town, they have endured through the best and the worst of times!

Croatians plan picnic

An old fashioned picnic is being planned by six Croatian organizations for Sunday July 5, at the Izaak Walton League picnic grounds at 57th Mississippi (East of Broadway). The participating organizations are: Lodge 170 of the Croatian Fraternal Union of America, Nest 10 C.F.U., Glee Club "Preradovic," Club of Retired Croatians, Gary Jr. Tamburitzans and American Croatian Democratic Club.

As of 11:30 a.m. barbecued spring lamb will be available. Other foods on the menu will be sauerkraut and sausage, hot dogs and home-made apple and cheese strudel. There will be entertainment for all ages, including dancing to the lively music of Plavi Vjetar orchestra.

Entrance to the picnic grounds is free of charge.

Mothers meet

The Southlake County Mother's of Twins Club will meet on July 6, at 7:00 at the Schererville library.

The guest will be Dr. Ore, who will have a slide presentation on childhood dentistry. He is a Pediadontist from Chicago Heights.

On July 18, at 7:00 p.m., the group will have a bowling party at the Plaza Lanes on Kennedy Ave., Highland. Husbands are invited and refreshments will be served.

Fashion options abound today

Most important for a contemporary miss are the wondrously different looks she can latch on to, offered by leading dress manufacturers. "Today, you want more fashion options," advise experts. "You want your choice of the best possible worlds in Fashionland."

It's interpreted here in "Victoria", an irresistible feminine new dress line featuring soft, silky georgettes lavished with vintage-looking lace. Drifty sheers, rich velvets and tapestries offer more options. Just a few of the many delicate touches: ruffles, tucks, flounces, embroideries. Yesteryear's charm plus today's fashion savvy. It all adds up to "Victoria's" look of innocence merged with sweet sophistication. Yet "only the look is expensive."

And the beat goes on--options in styling and beguiling all over the gamut. Famous-line labels like "Vicky Vaughn" and "Toni Todd", photographed here, understand a female heart and give consideration to her pocketbook, too. In a gypsy gadabout mood? Feeling Folkloric? Ready for "Vicky Vaughn's" flirty French schoolgirl look? Hankering for the classics, too--like "Toni Todd's" super sweater-dressing and jacketdresses that go jauntily from desk to dawn? They're right at hand now, the fashion pros remind you, as is a wide range of the new season's rich colors, fabric excitement and variety of soft shapes.

So name your fantasy, then trip on over to your favorite "more-options" fashion shop--and see it come true.

Bombassaro family reunion

Sixty-five family members and nine guests gathered at the Stone City VFW Post picnic grounds in Joliet, Illinois for the Bombassaro annual reunion. The group met on Father's Day and all fathers of the family were honored.

The group was saddened by the announcement of the death of John Brust, son of Mrs. Lois Brust and grandson of Mrs. Eileen Bombassaro.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Kohn are the proud parents of the newest member of the family, Ashley Elaine Kohn.

Raid did not dampen the spirits of the family and guests and all agreed that the hostesses, Kathy McCabe and Karen Hamilton, had planned a great day.

Family members attending from Indiana were Mr. and Mrs. William Bombassaro, Sr., Miss Vicky Bombassaro, Mrs. Jeanne Johnson of Gary; Mr. and Mrs. James Wassall, Merrillville and Mr. and Mrs. William Bombassaro, Jr and daughter Amy of Portage.

FOOD

Plan a picnic for a bang-up 4th of July!

The drafting of the Declaration of Independence was a difficult task. It did not proceed without argument. Some of the participants in the drafting favored maintaining a limited allegiance to England--others thought a complete break must be made, but that trade relations should be kept on a friendly basis.

When John Adams said, "A Union and confederation of thirteen states, independent of Parliment, of Minister, and of King," those words were treason in the eyes of the British.

After Thomas Paine had distributed a pamphlet explaining what the issues were and what the political leaders were thinking, a committee was appointed to prepare a formal statement. Thomas Jefferson headed the committee, whose members were Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, Roger Sherman and Robert Livingston.

The first meeting convened on July 1 and each of the delegates gave his view either for or against declaring independence from England.

Finally, after numerous drafts and revisions, the Declaration of Independence, as we know it, was approved on July 4, 1776.

July 4 has been our most significant national holiday since that time. And although the traditional main dish for celebration feasts in colonial times was salmon, probably today's favorite food is either steak, or hot dogs and hamburgers, cooked out. And of course, there should be an array of salads and some special dessert for the occasion.

To start off the backyard picnic with a bang, try a toast to Independence Day with a Blue Coat Lightning!

Clean the mushroom caps and place in a pan of boiling water for 7 minutes. Drain well. Combine with remaining ingredients, place in a jar and cover tightly. Refrigerate at least 1 week before serving.

DEVILED EGGS with ANCHOVIES on WATERCRESS

Watercress

Hard-boil the eggs and place immediately in cold water. Peel and cut in half lengthwise. Remove yolks and place in a mixing bowl, set whites aside. Mash yolks with fork, moisten with dressing, and add salt, pepper, anchovy paste and mustard. Fill the egg whites with the yolk mixture, using a pastry tube witha star tip. Garnish each egg with a small strip of anchovy, chives and a sprinkle of paprika. Place on a serving tray lined with fresh watercress. Chill before serving.

HILO FRANKS

1 tablespoon salad oil
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated fresh gingerroot or ¼ teaspoon ground ginger.

2 pounds frankfurters
1 No. 2 can pineapple slices, drained

For the sauce, combine first 9 ingredients. Score the frankfurters on the bias and broil slowly, turning and basting often with the sauce, till hot through and glazed.

Last few minutes grill pineapple rings: PLace on grill; brush with basting sauce, broil and turn. Brush again with sauce. Heat remaining sauce to pass with franks. Go-with: a tossed salad. Serves 8-10.

BAR-B-Q CHICKEN

⅓ cup vinegar
¼ cup salad oil
¼ cup water
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon hot red pepper sauce
3 to 3½ pound fryer, cut into serving pieces

1 cup soft breadcrumbs
1 egg
¼ cup red cooking wine (not sweet)
2 tablespoons sliced green onions
1 teaspoon salt
dash pepper

In a large bowl, toss all ingredients with a fork until well mixed. Shape in 8 patties, about ½-inch thick. Broil over hot coals, turning once and brushing frequently with Burgundy Sauce,13 to 15 minutes total cooking time or till of desired doneness. Heat remaining sauce to pass. Serves 8.

Burgundy Sauce: Cook 2 tablespoons sliced scallions in ½ cup butter till just tender. Add ¼ cup red cooking wine.

FAVORITE POTATO SALAD

2 lbs. (about 6 medium sized) potatoes, unpeeled
1½ cup chopped onions
1 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. pepper
1 cup salad dressing
1 tsp. prepared mustard
½ cup sliced black olives
8 hard-boiled eggs
Paprika
Parsley sprigs

Boil the unpared potatoes in salted water until tender (30-35 minutes). Drain, cool and peel. Cut potatoes into cubes; combine in large bowl with onion, 6 of the eggs (cut up), mustard and black olives. Season with salt and pepper, and add the salad dressing. Garnish with the remaining eggs, sliced, and sprinkle with paprika and parsley sprigs.

GRILLED STEAKS

Choose tender steaks, about 1 inch thick. (Rib steaks are easier than T-bones on your budget.) Remove meat from refrigerator an hour or so before broiling so it is at room temperature. Slash fat edge at intervals to keep steaks flat.

When coals are hot, tap off gray ash with fire tongs. Let grill top heat, then grease it and put on the steaks (orders for "rare" go on last). When you see little bubbles on top side of steaks, they are ready to turn (heat forces the juices to the uncooked surface). Flip steak with tongs and pancake turner--piercing with a fork wastes good meat juices. Season steak right after turning or as it comes off the grill. Broil second side less long than first--turn only once. For 1-inch steaks cooked medium-rare, allow about 13 to 15 minutes total broiling time.

For char flavor: Sear steak on one side by lowering grill top close to coals for 2 or 3 minutes, then raise grill to finish same side. Turn steak, and sear second side; again raising grill and complete the cooking.

CHICKEN PIECES,QUARTERS OR HALVES A LA LASHER

3-pound fryer, cut into pieces, quarters or halves
1½ teaspoons salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
Melted butter, margarine or favorite basting or barbeque sauce.

Rinse pieces of chicken with cold water; pat dry with paper towel. Season chicken with salt and papper. Arrange chicken pieces, skin side up, on cooking grill over drippan. Brush with melted butter, margarine or basting sauce. Cover kettle and cook about 1 hour or until tender. After 30 minutes brush chicken with melted butter, margarine or basting sauce. Baste 2 or 3 times during cooking.Yield: 2 to 4 servings.

CIRCLE PUPS

1 1-pound can (2 cups) sauerkraut
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon sage

1 pound (8 to 10) frankfurters*
8 to 10 slices rye bread, buttered
Prepared mustard

Drain kraut, reserving ½ cup juice. Mix flour, sage, and reserved juice; stir into the drained kraut. Heat and stir until mixture thickens. At ½-inch intervals, cut slits across franks, going almost but not quite through. Broil franks over hot coals until hot through--they'll curl as they cook. Place franks on bread; fill center with hot kraut; top with mustard.

'Illusions' are captivating

"CRISMAN AND COMPANY'S WORLD OF ILLUSIONS" will mystify and delight at the Merrillville Festival July 4 and 5, at Century Mall. Magician Tom Crisman, kneeling, and his assistants, left to right, Pam Scott, Dean Scott, and Terry Fay, will dazzle the festival crowd with astounding illusions.

MERRILLVILLE--Amid the many booths, the fun-loving people, and the festive atmosphere at the Merrillville Festival on July 4th and 5th, an illusionist supreme will spellbind and totally captivate the crowd. When "Crisman and Company's World of Illusions" takes to the stage, they bring magic and mystery to the Merrillville birthday celebration at Century Mall.

"Crisman and Company's World of Illusions" performs throughout the country. They have appeared on television, dazzling thousands on "Bozo's Circus" and on the Dave Baum TV talk show. Perhaps more important to Tom Crisman, the group is in demand at magicians' conventions around the nation. Crisman feels a sense of professional pride at the recognition from his peers, recognition from conventions and performances in New York, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin, Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, and throughout Chicagoland.

Tom Crisman is married, and his wife, Donna, is a former assistant in his act. The 25-year-old magician from Portage has dabbled in magic for over 17 years, and has a talent for woodworking.

His woodworking talents prove very useful, because Crisman constructs much of his own illusion equipment. And he has turned many a piece of birch and pine into equipment for other magicians across the country.

Marshall Brodien, a nationally known magician for almost 37 years, uses Crisman-built equipment. Brodien met Crisman at a magic convention and has carefully watched him perform. Brodien is impressed with Crisman, impressed enough to use one of Tom Crisman's illusions in his own act.

"'Tom's one of the best," said Brodien. "He performs in a very professional way."

Part of that professionalism is an expanded act. A long way from simple card tricks and juvenile birthday parties, Crisman said, "I wanted us to be more of a show, not just an act."

To help bring that about, Crisman hired a professional dance trio from Highland: Dean Scott, Pam Scott, and Terry Fay.

Together, the four bedazzle audiences with sword acts, levitating bodies, and a myriad of mysteries. Each performance is dumbfounding, with the drama enhanced by flash pots, a fog machine, and special lighting.

But in addition to the special effects equipment they bring to the stage, each performer must also bring a willingness to risk very dangerous stunts. Once, during the smoking coffin illusion, Crisman's assistant was very nearly smoked out of her hiding place. And Crisman himself has to be very cautious when performing. With a smile, he said, "When I'm breathing fire, I have to be very careful not to let the lighter fluid drip on my mouth or lips, otherwise..."

In describing the performance, Crisman said, "I like to have a fast-paced show, with a lot happening at the same time and to offer as much excitement as possible."

On Saturday and Sunday, July 4th and 5th, at the Merrillville Festival, "Crisman and Company's World of Illusions" will do just that.

Brownstone in M-ville

Two Chicagoans, the Merrillville Festival Committee reports, will be at Century Mall Saturday July 4th. Al Rose and David Kay have combined their musical talents to form Three Story Brownstone. The unique sound of this band has been influenced by their exposure to bluegrass, folk, and blues.

Each artist brings to the group many years of formal music training as well; Al with the flute, and Dave on the piano and guitar. They met in the late '70s while studying at the University of Illinois in Champaign, and have been playing together ever since.

Today the sounds of Three Story Brownstone continue to expand. These seasoned performers capture audiences of all types with everything from fine variations on the flute, to folk guitar, to a capella ballads. They write most of their own music and lyrics and have an affinity for always coming up with something exciting.

Last year Al and Dave were able to show off their versatility during a two week engagement at Chicagofest--the city's largest musical extravaganza. They have performed at many Chicago clubs, donated their time for charitable organizations, and covered most areas of the United States playing at major universities. And on Saturday, July 4th, the Merrillville Festival will host these talented performers.

Oriental exhibit

Trachtenberg Gallery, 430 W. 73rd Avenue Merrillville, presents "Oriental and Botanical Images" during the month of July. Featured in the oriental display are woodcuts from the Meiji period, original watercolors and drawings, scrolls, sumi drawings and original hand printed manuscript leaf's from the 18th and 19th centuries.

Featured in the botanical exhibit are hand colored etchings from the Sowerbys famous series as well as lithographs from the 18th and 19th centuries.

Also on display are original prints, oils, watercolors and three dimensional art forms.

Gallery hours are 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Tuesday thru Saturday and 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Sunday.

Passage sure attraction

MERRILLVILLE -- When the excitement begins at the Merrillville Fourth of July Festival, a multitude of arts and crafts displays from all over the Midwest will be located at Century Mall. Clowns, belly dancers, games and activities of all kinds will be present. In addition to these attractions, one sure attention-getter will be the band Passage. A hard driving, energetic foursome from the Midwest, Passage will appear each evening at the festival, Saturday and Sunday.

Known throughout the area for music which ranges from AC/DC to Bob Seager, from the classics of the Rolling Stones to the down-South excitement of Lynard Skynard, Passage also plays dozens of their original songs.

Clubs from Chesterton to Chicago have seen Passage perform. Passage has been in demand at the Toy Tiger in Louisville, Ky., and at the Banyon Tree in Indianapolis. Recently, Passage played a concert at the Holiday Star Theater in Merrillville, a concert that was taped for broadcast by both WCAE-TV Channel 50 and WFLM-FM Night Rock.

Passage is very eager to help celebrate Merrillville's 10th anniversary. The group donated the use of over $25,000 worth of sound equipment to the Festival. This package includes a professional sound mixing board, microphones, speakers, power amps, and the manpower necessary to operate the equipment.

Tommy Ward, a mainstay of the group, encouraged Passage to participate in the festivities. Ward is proficient on guitars and keyboards, and his vocals are a Passage trademark. Ward has taken this anniversary celebration to heart, because he began his professional music career as a young man in Merrillville back in 1971 -- the same year Merrillville became a town.

'History of the World' -- a movie review

by OREN COOLEY

"History of the World Part I" (rated R), the new musical-comedy of producer Mel Brooks, is a huge disappointment in the annals of movie history.

In the past, Mel Brook's distinctive humor and wit has brought the public many excellent movies, including "The Producers," "Young Frankenstein," "Blazing Saddles" and "Silent Movie." It is almost impossible to believe that after such excellent motion pictures, Mel Brooks has produced a film in which humor is foreign to the whole concept.

The movie is a satire on the history of the world, starting with the prehistoric era and ending with the French Revolution. In between, the Bible, the Roman Empire and the Inquisition are subjected to "humorous" puns.

One problem with this picture of the past is that it sacrifices its attempt to satirize historical people and times for cheap sight gags and boring one-liners unrelated to the respective time periods.

During the Roman Empire, a philosopher, one of the many characters portrayed by Mel Brooks, commented that soldiers were crawling the streets of Rome. The corresponding camera shot shows Roman soldiers actually crawling on the streets of Rome.

While performing a comic monologue for Julius Caesar (portrayed by Dom Deluise), this same budding philosopher turned comic muses, "The Jews are so poor..that they only have one God." Such cheap morsels of humor are scattered throughout the movie at every conceivable instance.

Much of the attempted humor in this movie is not only vulgar but also is in bad taste. During the prehistoric segment, narrator Orson Welles attempts to explain the rise of the art critic after the development of primitive art.

One critic expresses his opinion by urinating on a caveman's drawing of what appears to be a bull--at the very least a deformed cow. Such "bathroom humor" just is not funny.

This lack of taste creeps in up in a more explicit manner later in the movie in the form of sexual innuendoes.

Another fallacy of this motion picture is that the same dull puns appear throughout the movie. This factor only adds to the already extremely predictable humor, which is made more unbearable because much of this "comedy" in disguise is not fresh, but actually stale jokes which have been excavated for this picture.

There are some occasional bright spots in this "no man's land" of humor. Mel Brooks beautifully satirizes the people, the times and the feelings of the Inquisition. The musical number entitled "The Inquisition" points out its ludicrousness while at the same time parodying many swim sequences from the movies of Esther Williams, movie star of the 1940's.

Other modern aspects have been humorously incorporated in the past too. During the Roman Empire, Julius Caesar receives a golden bathtub from his general who has conquered a foreign land.

However, the real prize was the jewel bath behind curtain number two, a direct satire of Monty Hall's game show, "Let's MakeA Deal."

Despite these links to today, the movie fails to successfully satirize the past. Many instances of the past are touched upon but then are buried in some trite joke or degrading pun.

Overall, "History of the World Part I" is not worth the admission price to endure this one and 50 minutes of offensive drudgery. The movie actually advertises a Part II which encompassed the almost 200 years after the French Revolution that was somehow left out of the first part.

Hopefully, this sequel will never materialize. Quite frankly, Mel Brooks is capable or producing movies which contain humor. There is some humor in "History of the World Part I," but it goes by too quickly for mortal man to detect.

STEVIEWS

by STEVE EUVINO

There's an insurance commercial featuring Middletown, U.S.A. and its Fourth of July celebration which seeks to impress upon the viewer the notion that without being properly insured, no holiday program could be run. The day would be no different from any other.

I don't know about insurance, but I would go one step further to point out another factor without whose presence none of the upcoming holiday events would be enjoyed -- people, or more specifically, volunteers.

Whether we'll be rowing a canoe, sipping suds, smacking a softball, or taking in a fireworks show, we'll be touched by the work of those individuals who have given of their time and talents freely.

These people, many of whom have worked on holiday recreation for decades, have taken the initiative to provide their communities with activities which otherwise might never occur. These are truly invaluable folk. You can't put a price tag on all they do, but if you had to, you probably could not afford to pay them. You couldn't pay anyone to put up with all the headaches, heartburn, missed meals, red tape, and endless meetings.

So why do they do it? Maybe after you do something for so long it just becomes a part of your yearly routine, something that you have somehow grown accustomed to, something that without which your year would not be complete.

And it's not just the Fourth of July, either. Anyone who attended last week's Portage Grand Prix Jamboree witnessed a host of volunteer efforts combined for a common cause. The result was a weekend of fun for young and old alike.

From the St. Mary of the Lake Church Memorial Day Festival in Miller to the Slovak Day picnic in South Haven to La Festa in Merrillville, the Region is blessed with an abundance of ethnic, religious, and patriotic happenings. But without volunteers, we'd have nothing.

Think about it--take away the volunteers, the planners, the men and women who supply the backbone, and what would you have? Not a whole lot.

We seem to live in an age of many rights and almost no privileges. During this Independence Day weekend, however, we should salute all those countless persons in the background who deserve that moment in the limelight, who make our holidays what they are.

We talk about budget cutting, of scrimping every penny. Without the work of volunteers we wouldn't have to worry about money. Any discussion would be meaningless. Without the sweat, the service, and the selflessness of these men and women, no amount of money could make anything possible.

Hobart tennis coach Tom Wuchner faced a peculiar problem with one of his female netters this spring. It was a matter of communication. You see, this girl spoke a different language--English, the queen's English, that is.

NATALIE RUDOLPH, one of the two American Field Services students at the senior high this year, returned home to the Union of South Africa last weekend. Among the mementos she carried on the 18½-hour jet ride from New York to Johannesburg was a purple jacket bearing the golden "H" she earned on the Brickie net squad.

Natalie teamed with Robin Manes to compile a 13-6 doubles record. This was her first crack at competitive sports, which took as much adjusting as did the language difference.

Natalie once commented that she was accustomed to the proper three-syllable enunciation of her name, not the "nadly" (as in badly) that we Yanks slur.

However, once she adjusted to our foreign tongues, Natalie got down to the matter of athletics, which she came to enjoy.

"I loved the team spirit here," she noted. "It was great getting to know everybody on the team."

Back home in South Africa, ladies' sports include field hockey, swimming, track, squash, and netball, a form of basketball. The lads stick with their rugby and cricket.

Natalie's jacket is not the usual, heavy monogram style. Hers is a lighter, wind-breaker type, one more suited to the 50-degree winter temperatures now being recorded in her homeland.

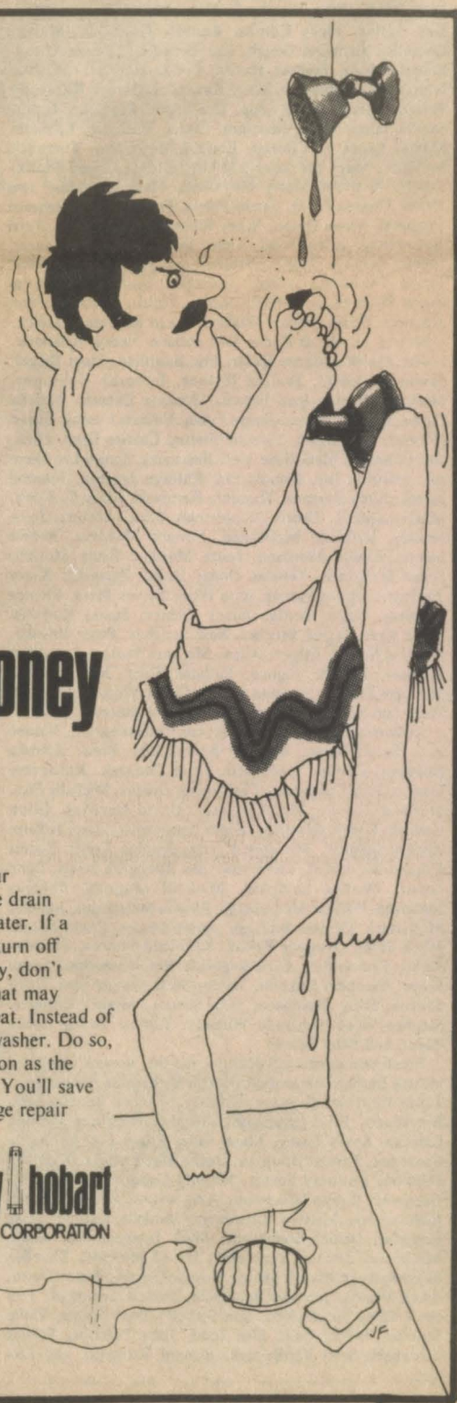
Leaky faucets drip, drip your money away!



A little leak drips your money right down the drain and wastes a lot of water. If a gentle nudge doesn't turn off your faucet completely, don't twist it extra tight. That may damage the washer seat. Instead of twisting, replace the washer. Do so, or have it done, as soon as the faucet begins to drip. You'll save water, money and large repair bills later on.

Catholic Charities dinner

At the recent Annual Catholic Charities and Catholic Family Service dinner, Father Joseph Semancik, Diocesan Director of Catholic Charities, presented the Annual Report for 1980. Last year Catholic Charities assisted 2,223 individuals and families with some type of direct service from the agency. In addition, over 1500 persons participated in group and organizational programs. The most prominent activity occured in the counseling program which offered help to 1,194 families.

The report emphasized the marked increase of activity in the Family Life Ministry Program which involved 1363 people in 1980. Father Semancik also indicated that two of Catholic Charities current priorities, namely the Accreditation process and the Hospice program, were in the middle stages of development. Hospice of Nothwest Indiana, Inc., a program for the terminally ill, should be operational by late 1981.

The East Chicago Knights of Columbus Council #1700 was given particular mention for its generous donation of $28,000 to inaugurate the Hospice program.

Bishop Andrew G. Grutka, who presided at the dinner, lauded the good work of Catholic Charities and the promise it holds for the future.

William Schneider, president of the Lay Advisory Board of Catholic Charities and Catholic Family Service, highlighted his expectation for the coming year. "I hope we can accomplish three things--to successfully complete the Accreditation process, to expand our advisory board, and to improve our relationships with voluntary organizations, particulary the Society of St. Vincent DePaul," Schneider commented.

William Schneider succeeds Perry A. Reinert of Munster. The other officers of the board are vice-president Frank Garcher, secretary Peggy McGuckin, and treasurer Joseph Levenda.

Firefighters test-out procedure set

The Indiana Commission on Firefighting Personnel Standards and Education will provide a "testing-out" procedure for firefighters who wish to gain credit for their past experience towards certification as a 2nd or 1st class Firefighter. The test-out will only be given once, and will be held on Sept. 19, 1981. Applications and more information about the testing procedure may be obtained through Ivy Tech College's Fire Science Program by contacting George Shonske or Mike Worosz by calling 981-1111.

The certification test-out may only be taken by firefighters who were in the fire service prior to Jan. 1, 1976, and who feel that they are qualified for certification but who do not have the records to substantiate their training. The test was prompted by many inquiries received by the Firefighting Commission from individuals who felt that they should be able to qualify because of past experience, but who do not have the records indicating they met the minimum training requirements for certification of new firefighters.

The purpose of the Indiana Commission on Firefighting Personnel Standards and Education is to encourage and recognize training. Ivy Tech's Fire Science program offers classes to assist firefighters who wish to receive certification as Master Firefighters in the areas of fire prevention, fire protection, tactics and air craft crash and rescue. Classes that are held at Ivy Tech include fire prevention, fire service inspection and air craft crash and rescue. The Fire Science program offers a complete two year associate degree program, and also offers classes for firefighters at many locations throughout the area.

For more information about the Fire Science Program at Ivy Tech College, contact George Shonske at 981-1111.

PAE announces fall plans

Portage Adult High School will be having day and evening classes this fall, but because of the recent budget cuts there will be a 32 percent reduction from the schedule of classes offered last fall. This is a drop from 76 classes to 52. All courses required for graduation will be offered, in addition to a variety of electives. The variety, however, will not be quite as large as last year's.

All of the learning centers will close July 1 and reopen Sept. 8, but with fewer hours per week and a decrease in the number of staff members. Most of the learning centers will no longer have teaching assistants unless the Portage Adult Education Center can locate another source of funds.

Three ESL (English-as-a-Second-Language) classes have been cancelled; the Chesterton, Hobart, and Portage classes. Valparaiso and Lake Station classes will continue with fewer hours. The new ESL mobile unit that travels throughout area counties should be able to take the students from the cancelled classes.

Community education classes will probably continue. Ken Woodruff, Director of the Portage Adult Education Center, states that "it is imperative for people to understand that these classes are not state funded. They are self-supporting, paid for by class fees." Community education consists of courses such as Bicycle Repair, Macrame, and Natural Childbirth.

Registration for the fall semester will take place at the Portage Adult Education Center on the 9 and 10 of September. School begins Sept. 14. Information concerning any of these programs can be obtained at the Portage Adult Education Center which will be open throughout the summer from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The phone number is 762-6113.

New M'ville pizza store

Godfather's Pizza, the nation's fastest growing food chain, has brought "the pizza you can't refuse" to Merrillville. Located at the 80th Place Center, just north of White Castle on Broadway, and employing 25 local people, the store is open from 11:00 a.m. to 11:00 p.m. weekdays, and until 1:00 a.m. on weekends.

According to Restaurants and Institutions magazine, a restaurant trade publication, Godfather's Pizza has been the fastest growing food chain in the country in each of the last three years, with an average annual growth rate of 120 percent. Beginning with one location in 1973, Godfather's Pizza has grown today to over 550 locations in 40 states with a projection of over 700 stores by the end of 1981.

"We strive to do one thing exceptionally," says local Godfather's Pizza owner, Dick Swartzbaugh, "make a terrific pizza. Our rapid growth indicates that our customers see Godfather's Pizza as a superb compromise approach to product preparation. Our Pizza is thicker, weighs more, has more on it, and cost us more to make than nearly every other pizza on the market. And our research shows that the vast majority of people who try us once will return regularly."

Most distinctive about Godfather's Pizza is its thick crust, made fresh at least twice daily. Crushed plum tomatoes, rather than pureed, are used for the sauce; beef and pork toppings are prepared and packed to Godfather's specifications; and mozzarella is prepared daily in-store from whole-milk 100 percent real cheeses, which are rarely used in the industry because of cost.

The menu leader at Godfather's Pizza is the "Combo", a nearly five-pound pizza piled with beef, sausage, pepperoni, onions, black olives, and mushrooms topped with almost a pound of mozzarella cheese.

Godfather's Pizza corporate franchise headquarters is located in Omaha, Nebraska, where the chain was founded in 1973.

Methodist appoints two

Two prominent Garyites have been named to the board of directors of Methodist Hospital. The new appointees are Ronald E. Blackman, president of the Anderson Company and Mrs. Y. Jean S. Chambers, professor of Communications and Creative Arts at Purdue University Calumet. The hospital has facilities in Gary and in Merrillville.

Mr. Blackman came to the Anderson Company in July of 1978 as executive vice-president and was appointed president on Jan. 1, 1979. Prior to his coming to Anderson he was managing director of Arman in Turin, Italy for two years. A native of Florida, Blackman joined Champion in 1956 and has been with them serving in various corporate facilities. Champion acquired the Anderson Company in 1978. The Anderson Company has manufacturing facilities in Gary and Valparaiso, another in Canada and joint ventures in Brazil and Mexico. It produces the "Anco" brand of windshield wiper.

Mrs. Chambers has had a distinguished career in the field of education. She was a teacher of Speech and Theater in the Gary School system from 1943 to her retirement in 1971. She then became a guest lecturer at Purdue University Calumet in the field of Communications and Creative Arts and has advanced to her present post of Associate Professor. She has received the American Oil Company Award for outstanding teacher of Purdue undergraduates, the N.A.A.C.P. Gary branch, Outstanding Educator Award, the Indiana State School Boards Association Educational Service Award, was chosen the Most Effective Teacher in the School of HESS(Humanities, Education and Social Science) and in 1981 received the Key to the City of Cleveland for her Educational Achievements.

Pooling requests frugal

Methodist Hospital has recently joined the Michigan Hospital Association Hospital Purchasing Service. Our membership makes us a part of some 340 hospitals in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Wisconsin who "pool" their requests for supplies and equipment and then make purchases in group quantities. They have discovered that vendors are eager to serve large clients and reduce their prices significantly.

All of this results in quality products at lower prices with the bottom line being better patient care at a lower dollar cost to the patients of The Methodist Hospital at both its Northlake and Southlake Campuses. Representing the hospital in this activity is Thomas Market of the Department of Finance and Joseph Smith, director of Materials Management.

Graver builds nuke tanks

EAST CHICAGO--Under terms of a contract addition, Graver Energy Systems, Inc. has been awarded a contract by Bechtel Power Corporation for four reinforced stainless steel tanks for the Bechtel Midland (Mich.) Nuclear plant.

The agreement authorizes Graver to proceed with final engineering design and purchase of material for four new 3,000 gallon component cooling water surge tanks for the nuclear generating station under construction. Fabrication of the tanks in the Graver shops here is expected to begin in September. Field erection will start in October.

The tanks are subject to nuclear quality standards and require "N" stamp approval. They replace four smaller tanks now ruled inadequate by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. The 811 MWe generating station is being built for Consumers Power Company.

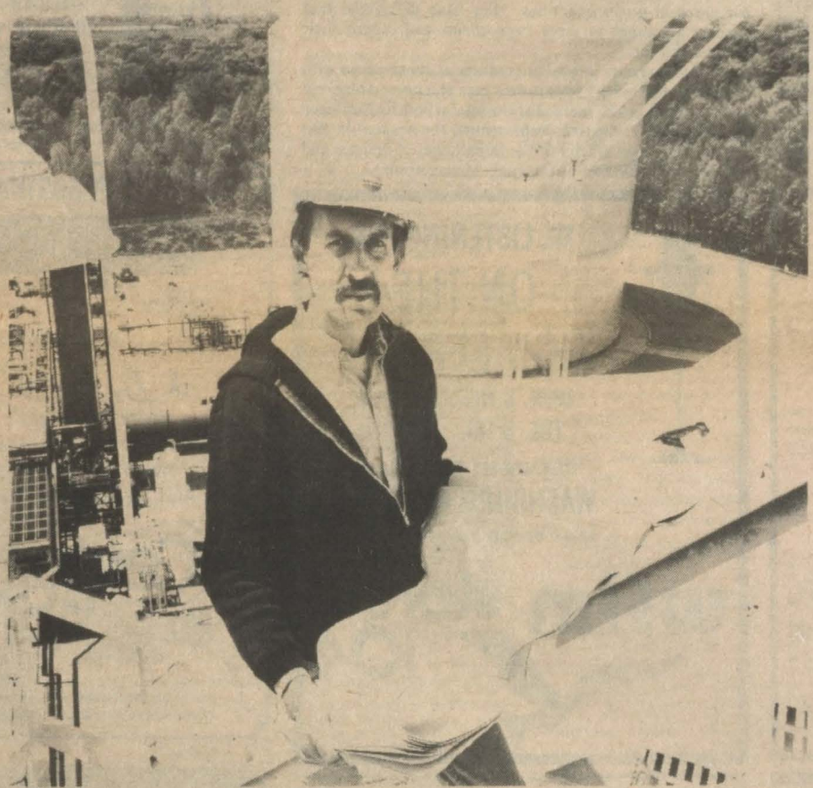
What's NIPSCO Doing About Efficiency And Productivity?



At our LNG Plant near LaPorte, we are working to increase productivity and our flexibility in meeting customers' gas needs. Chuck Tomczak, superintendent, tells how...

"Here at our liquefied natural gas plant, we take gas from our transmission line when customer demand is low in the summer and convert it to a liquefied state by "cooling" it to minus 258 degrees Fahrenheit. This reduces it to 1/600th of its original volume. This way we can store an equivalent of about two billion cubic feet of natural gas in each of the two tanks we have here. Then in the winter, when customer demand increases we can convert LNG to its gaseous state again, re-inject it into the transmission system to provide for the needs of our residential, commercial and industrial customers. This plant supplements our underground storage facility near Royal Center, Indiana, and our other contracted storage facilities to make our natural gas service dependable, reliable and efficient."

Gas storage—keeping your natural gas service as dependable and reliable as possible... as well as increasing efficiency and productivity.

Portage students selected

PORTAGE--The Society of Distinguished American High School Students has announced that two students from the First United Methodist Church are to be included in its membership for 1981.

Kevin Mixell and Lorri Moore are the students awarded this honor. The students' sponsor, the Rev. Orla E. Bradford, received a National Appreciation Award from the Society for "being dedicated to the encouragement and assistance of students."

The Society, one of the most selective high school honoraries in the United States today, accepts only students nominated by their sponsors. To be nominated, students must excel in academics, and extra-curricular, or civic activities. One of the Society's goals is to make membership an encouragement for top performance on the secondary school level.

Unique in concept, the Society has combined this honor with its National Awards Program which earmarks college scholarships for Society members. This program, now in its 13th year, is funded by more than 100 American colleges. It also preserves the honor by listing the students and their biographies in an annual membership registry.

In Memory of DONALD E. NIKSCH on the occasion of his 65th birthday, July 3, 1981.

Your songs still live, Don, in my heart,
As the seasons bring the time,
Closer to the day we'll meet again,
And our arms will intertwine.
"By the shadowy, winding stream,
We will meet when the leaves turn green,
Don't forget we've a promise then
When it's Springtime Back Home again."
With love always, till we meet again.

Evenings and Sundays by Appointment Only

July 13 is the date set for the monthly Blood Pressure Screening Progam sponsored by the Ross Clinic, Inc. Patient Education Department.

These free monthly screenings are held from 9:00 to 12:00 A.M. and 1:00 to 5:00 P.M. at the Clinic's main floor lobby, and are open to the general public.

This summer, hire somebody who will strive, scramble, toil, grind, and tackle.

Teenagers.
They're hungry to work.
All you have to give is a job to a needy teenager who wants to work. But has never been given the chance.
You'll save on your taxes.
And make the most of the most willing work force in America.

Make the most of your youth.

Star Gazing

ARIES March 21 - April 20 Don't let your temper get the best of you this coming week. There is too much gain coming your way to let small things upset you and spoil your chances for something big.

TAURUS April 21 - May 20 A great deal of "luck" is just around the corner for Taurus born individuals. This might tend to make you a little careless in matters that are most important. Think!

GEMINI May 21 - June 20 There's probably so much going on in your life right now, both socially and in career matters, that you feel a little bewildered. Take first things first; and you'll gain.

CANCER June 21 - July 21 All aspects of your daily life should be getting better and better as the weeks go by. It might pay you to look into the possibility of turning a hobby into a paying proposition.

LEO July 22 - August 21 Things should be brightening up somewhat in the lives of Leo persons now. Look around you, and see if there isn't something you have missed. You may get a pleasant surprise.

VIRGO August 22 - Sept. 21 Cautious handling of some business matters is indicated for Virgo at this time. Many issues may be coming to a head, but you should be able to handle them quite adequately.

LIBRA Sept. 22 - Oct. 22 Libra individuals who are over the age of 40 are holding a great advantage over others at this time. They have learned "the hard way" and are now ready to put this knowledge to good use.

SCORPIO Oct. 23 - Nov. 21 A complete "new life" is facing Scorpio individuals at this time. Much can be done to make things pleasant and easy by taking to heart the lessons you have learned in the past.

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22 to Dec. 20 Pay attention to small details and you'll see the overall picture beginning to take shape, especially in your favour. Take care of your health. A little caution would be better than over-enthusiasm in business.

CAPRICORN Dec. 21 - Jan. 19 "Look before you leap" would be a wise motto to remember at this time. This doesn't mean necessarily that you'll do something foolish, it merely warns you t be extra cautious.

AQUARIUS Jan. 20 - Feb. 18 Get plenty of rest and sleep if you find yourself feeling generally tired and nervous. Rome wasn't built in a day, and you can't achieve anything by "rushing" too hard right now.

PISCES Feb. 19 - March 20 You may feel right now that you have to force issues. Advice is "DON'T" as you will find it will not pay off for you. Take your time and think things out very carefully before making your decision, especially in legal matters.

TOWN OF MERRILLVILLE
DEC. 30
1971

In March of 1972, Merrillville High School student David Sullivan successfully submitted his design for the new town's seal. The design competition, sponsored by the Merrillville Lion's Club, was open to students throughout the town. The seal notes the date of Merrillville's incorporation, plus crossed U.S. and Indiana flags behind an "M" shaped like the state.

STILL ROLLING -- The Big Wheel at 53rd and Broadway was there before Merrillville became a town and was one of the very first restaurants to be officially "in town." [HERALD photo by Idid]

New broom sweeps clean?

January 7, 1976

by CORINNE B. SCHILLER

MERRILLVILLE -- The first official act of the newly-installed Board of Trustees, after having elected Floyd Fidler its President, was to disallow a claim in the amount of $612.37 due the Wayfarer restaurant in payment for a "birthday" party authorized by the previous Town officials.

The party, first suggested by retiring Board President Anne Collins, was purportedly in celebration of the incorporation of the Town. Some 90 persons attended, even though displeasure was voiced by various Trustees-elect prior to the December 30 affair.

ORDINANCE 76-1, the first of the new year, by unanimous vote rescinded Ordinance 76-56 which had created the Park Board in December against the wishes of the Trustees-elect at that time.

In other business, Alvin Schmidt was elected unanimously to serve as a replacement for Charles Dobrowski on the Metropolitan Police Commission.

Even though Dobrowski had indicated he would like to continue and letters had been sent to each of the Town Board members, his name was not placed in nomination.

ALL DEPARTMENT heads and employees will continue to their present employment, but it was made clear that such employment is on a temporary basis.

In passing the motion to allow employment to continue, the Trustees made it abundantly clear that the door was left open for any future changes that they might wish to make after having had an opportunity to assess the performances of employees and the needs of the various departments.

The next regular meeting of the Board of Trustees will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday, January 13 in the Town Hall.

M-ville hosts Cynthia

On Sunday, July 5th, the Merrillville Festival will be the stage for Cynthia Paice, a singer and songwriter of unique style and presentation. She has performed throughout the Chicago-land area as a solo-act and her talent has grown and matured to where she now performs with four fine musicians whom she has nicknamed "Cyn & Blues."

"Cyn & Blues" is a remarkable combination. With Cyn as their leader she sets the mood and style of a song with a voice that is natural and distinct in its delivery. She can soothe, amuse, excite and move any who hear her because of the amount of control her voice possesses when singing.

Cyn feels that "style" is the most important thing in being a successful entertainer and she has worked hard at developing her own style which sets her off from all other entertainers. Her style is so unique and dynamic that it lets her command an enchanting presence when performing.

Cyn has written and arranged most of the pieces that "Cyn & Blues" performs. Cyn loves to sing the blues and blues is what she has centered on as the group's initial sound.

"Blues" on the other hand, is a band that anyone would be proud to have behind them. They are a group of highly sensitive and ingenious musicians who have a keen awareness of the style and mood that Cyn wishes to express on each song.

"Cyn & Blues" is a relatively new talent to emerge on Chicago's club scene and the group looks forward to making a name in some of Chicago's well-known night spots and being known as one of this area's best in entertainment.

MERRILLVILLE:

a capsule report

Merrillville boasts a long and rich history, though the town did not officially exist until incorporated in late 1971. Long before fur traders arrived in the area at the southern tip of Lake Michigan, peace loving Pottawatomie Indians, a nation of hunters and fishermen, were enjoying the natural riches of the dense forests and gently rolling terrain of this Great Lakes region.

As early as 1834, a ceremonial clearing in the woods was called McGwinn's Village after one of the hardy frontiersmen who camped there. However, this proved to be only the first of the area's many names. In 1835, Jeremiah Wiggins arrived. His famed "gift of gab" and intriguing trinkets soon persuaded the Indians that Wiggins was staying and the area was renamed Wiggins Point.

Time saw Wiggins Point become a popular stop for wagon trains bound for Chicago, Joliet and Kankakee, Illinois. As the nation expanded its western boundaries, 16 trails radiated in all directions from the little settlement. Stores, hotels, liveries, and other businesses supporting the busy wagon and coach trade began to spring up.

When Wiggins died in 1838, local residents decided the name Centreville was a more dignified name for the thriving settlement, only to change it later to Merrillville in honor of William and Dudley Merrill, successful brothers who had a great impact on the town's early growth. In fact, recognizing the value of owning property along the Sauk Trail route to Chicago's Fort Dearborn, Dudley Merrill purchased land there and created the town's first subdivision.

Merrillville remained the community's name until the town and its neighboring settlements -- Deep River, Ross, Turkey Creek, Ainsworth, Lottaville and Rexville -- organized collectively under the central government of Ross Township. Thus the area remained for more than 125 years.

And then a decade ago, in 1971, the rural town was officially incorporated as Merrillville. Now, ten years later, the community proper has a population of about 30,000 and is a dynamic, commercial leader in Northwest Indiana. Merrillville is Indiana's fastest growing town, and its momentum for growth continues even through the current economic slowdown.

The vitality of new growth is everywhere. The young community, just now celebrating its 10th anniversary, has attracted many corporate headquarters as well as two major shopping malls and a new, huge entertainment/convention facility. The landscape, once farm next to farm, is now filled with well-groomed residential areas and the mini-skyscrapers of commerce.

Merrillville also emphasizes the importance of community aesthetics. Business and community leaders agree that growth and excellence go hand in hand. The Chamber of Commerce has already begun to focus attention on landscape and architectural excellence through a program of awards and recognition.

So, as this suburban community became a major commercial center, its skyline changed but its spacious suburban look has been maintained. Many of Merrillville's major new developments are located on large parcels of land in attractive commercial parks.

As Merrillville's first decade ends, opportunities for planned development are prime. This decade will see an exciting period of continued growth with an estimate that Merrillville's population could reach an amazing 100,000 in twenty years, planning provides for expansion of light industry, commercial centers, professional facilities, and residential areas.

Once the thriving stop-off point for wagon trains headed west, Merrillville is echoing its early history with a dynamic shout. Merrillville has made itself known. With surprising energy, the town has rapidly left its rural beginnings to become a major regional center of commerce. It is more than a stopping-off point. Merrillville is the focal point of the map.

On July fourth and fifth, Merrillville commemorates its history with a huge parade and festival. Civic groups, businesses and government leaders are all coming together to provide a hometown celebration, complete with live entertainment, arts and craft displays, and activities for young and old. The entire town, indeed most of Northwest Indiana, is expected to turn out to enthusiastically salute the rich and varied history and the rapid progress of Merrillville.

Marryin' Merle does 1st wedding

by CORINNE B. SCHILLER

MERRILLVILLE -- The Town Hall, which was once an elementary school, was the scene of another "first" on Tuesday, September 13. At about 10:45 p.m. the wedding of Ruben Osuna, Jr. and Sylvia Soliz was solemnized in the offices of Clerk-Treasurer Merle Cook, with Mrs. Cook performing the ceremony.

Under the fairly recent statute, clerk-treasurers of cities or towns may perform marriage ceremonies, and this was the first one scheduled by Mrs. Cook.

The late evening ceremony was set to accomodate the groom who explained that it was his only night off from either work or school.

THE BRIDE, Sylvia Soliz, a resident of 716 West 150th Street, East Chicago, is 18 years old. Irma Osuna, sister of the groom, served as maid of honor for Sylvia.

And Ruben's family came for the ceremony. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Osuna, Sr., and his two brothers were present. Gilbert Osuna served as best man for Ruben. And Gilbert's wife, Shelly and their two daughters, Dawn and Dana, came for the ceremony. Oscar Osuna and his friend Maris Biederstadt were guests as were John and Wendy Beres, friends from Griffith.

For the nuptials, the new Mrs. Osuna chose a floor-length gown of creme chiffon featuring an embroidered-banded neckline and flowing sleeves. Her flowers were a bouquet of freshly-cut dewey chrysanthemums in fall colors. Mr. Osuna wore a boutonniere matching her bouquet.

IN KEEPING with the spirit of the occasion, Mrs. Cook has arranged a bank of potted plants and palms in one corner of her office to form a backdrop for the ceremony.

Slowly and with deep conviction, Mrs. Cook read the vows which united Sylvia and Ruben in marriage.

It was a wedding that brought smiles to everyone's faces.

A SOLEMN MOMENT -- Merrillville Clerk-Treasurer Merle Cook reads the wedding ceremony for Sylvia Soliz and Ruben Osuna, Jr. in the first wedding to take place in the Town Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Osuna are both residents of East Chicago. [Herald photo by Corinne Schiller]

New Methodist boasts finest facilities

NEARING COMPLETION -- the latest addition to Broadway Methodist Hospital. When the facility was opened in 1975, thousands of people toured the building during the grand opening to marvel at its modernity and the wealth of facilities for treatment. [HERALD photo by Idid]

by CORINNE B. SCHILLER

MERRILLVILLE -- Climaxing a week of pre-opening tours, Bishop Ralph Taylor Alton, Resident Bishop of the United Methodist Church Board of Directors, dedicated Northwest Indiana's newest hospital facility, Broadway Methodist, in Merrillville on Saturday, December 13.

Also participating in the ceremonies were Representative Floyd Fithian who presented an American flag which had flown over the Capitol to the medical staff president, Dr. Ernest Mirich. State Representative Chester Dobis of Merrillville presented an Indiana State flag to Dr. Mirich.

GERRITT VAN KEPPEL of the construction company which was the prime contractor for the project presented the keys to the building to Acting Administrator R.B. Glesne and Raymond Garbe of the architectural firm of Schmidt, Garden and Erikson of Chicago, made the presentation of the official contractor's certification to Glesne.

Following religious ceremonies, about 250 persons enjoyed the official open house which was from 1 to 6 p.m., both Saturday and Sunday.

During the press tour on Monday, December 8, Glesne said December 29 is the tentative opening date for patient care, with 100 beds available, as well as all ancillary services such as emergency room, laboratory, pharmacy, X-ray department, surgical and obstetrical units. February is the anticipated date for opening of additional floors to provide 50 beds for medical and surgical patients, Glesne said.

GLESNE ADDED THAT the design of the hospital is such that it could accomodate 600-bed capacity in the future if necessary. As of this time, there are no plans to expand the facility, he said.

The Merrillville facility, according to Glesne, is a satellite of the main hospital in Gary and both will share a common staff of doctors and administrators. The 150 doctors on staff will serve both facilities; the expected number of fulltime employees for the satellite hospital is 350, which includes about 80 registered nurses.

"We plan to operate and maintain downtown Methodist on the same basis as we have for 50 years," Glesne said and "the two hospitals will operate with one staff."

TWO UNIQUE features of Broadway Methodist hospital are the private room concept and the linear accelerator, which is the most progressive and up-to-date radiation therapy for treatment of cancer available in this part of the State. Until now, this type of treatment has been available only to residents of Chicago or the Indianapolis area.

The linear accelerator is one of the most precise and sophisticated units available for radiotherapy in the country. The basic equipment cost $200,000 and required an additional $400,000 to construct the room to house the equipment. The room where the machine is located has 38-inch thick high density concrete walls and ceiling. Capable of treating approximately 60 patients per day, the accelerator produces high energy X-rays capable of delivering large doses to deep tumors. Another feature of the eqiupment is that it can be focused accurately on a particular area and achieve optimum focusing through a rigidly specified collimation assembly with a very small focal point size, reducing the unfavorable side reactions a patient can experience if exposed to excessive irradiation of normal tissue.

"Patients can be treated locally, either on an in-patient or out-patient basis," Glesne said. According to Dr. K. G. Ambrozaitis, Chief Radiologist, the linear accelerator will be the most powerful radiation therapy machine for treatment of cancer in Lake County.

GLESNE SAID, "The charge per day for each of the 160 private rooms in the facility will be $96, compared for the $92 for semi-private rooms at the downtown facility." He said the cost was about the same "because there are the same personnel requirements for semi-private and private rooms."

He added that plans call for the possible addition of semi-private rooms in the future.

The diagnostic section of the Radiology Department can process 150 patients a day and is designed and equipped with the most modern equipment available today, such as the TV fluoroscopy equipment. The cost of the fluoroscopy room was $257,000. The radiologist operates the machine by remote control from an adjacent room while watching the patient directly through the lead window and on TV; from his vantage point, he can control both the movement of the machine and the patient without entering the room.

A physician is on duty at all times in the emergency room and the facilities are available to handle all types of emergencies. Four trauma rooms, costing approximately

THE INTENSIVE care and coronary care units can accomodate six patients with acute cardiac problems or those who need intensive monitoring by both mechanical means and nursing. Each bed is equipped so that vital signs can be monitored simultaneously.

The nursing staff which works in the unit is required to complete a four-week intensive-coronary care course as well as a four-week trauma nursing program. They are able to give life-saving drugs as well as being able to defibrillate, by means of electrical shock, a heart that is not beating effectively.

A lot of use has gone into this room, the old Room 6 of the Merrillville School. This same room with all these smiling faces has become the Town Board meeting room. The wall in the left half of the photo faces east.

ARTIM TRANSPORTATION was one of the first buildings to go up in Westlake Plaza, opposite Southlake Mall and was the winner of several awards for excellence in design. It is one of only a few buildings which are over two stories high in Merrillville [HERALD photo by Idid]

When this photo was taken 80th Place was nearing completion and the road had not yet been finished. In just a short time, both sides of the street were built-up. In the background, one can see SS Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Cathedral. With the building that has been completed since then, the view of the cathedral is obscured from 80th Place now. THE GARY NATIONAL BANK BUILDING -- is aesthetically pleasing from any angle and in every season. The early spring photo was taken on the day of the official opening. The summer photo with fountains and trees is a recent one. It is obvious how the landscaping greenery has grown in just a few short years. At night the building is brightly lighted and makes a geographical reference point for all who approach Merrillville from the south. The building can be seen from at least six miles away across the as-yet-undeveloped farm lands to the south. [HERALD photo by Idid]
